OLDEST ON RECORD

Life History of Oldest Person in Hawaii Nei.

KEPOOLELE APAU, 124 YEARS OLD

Familiar With Earliest Events in History.

Visited Kilauea Volcano With Kapiolani I—Trained by the Missionaries.

After passing Smith street walking on the mauka side of King one notices a number of dingy muddy alleys in the second one from the bridge there is a relic of the early days of the Hawaiian Islands. Walk through the alley and when you get to the rear of the store facing King street there is another passage way narrower than the one which leads from King street to a collection of old tumble down cottages occupied by Hawaiians.

If you want to find and converse with the oldest inhabitant of the Islands, turn into this narrow way and stop at the two-story house on the left. It is an old place so old that the date of the erection of it is almost forgotten by the people who live in it or in the cottages around. On the upper veranda an old koa bedstead stands exposed to the Kona winds and rains of the winter months. A bit of bedding and a bunk at some time used by the younger generation of Hawaiians has been cast aside for the Hawaiian of the old school is not a believer in soft beds. A mat on the floor has greater attractions than the most modern spring mattress.

On the lower floor the house is divided into three rooms, a large one in the center and flanked on either side by two small ones. Here the family eat and sleep; the cooking is done on a kerosene tin in the yard.

On a mat in the largest of the three rooms a reporter for the Advertiser found the old woman. She piped an Aloha to her visitors and took their hands with the grasp of a girl of 20. She is not a beautiful woman though the traditions of her family aver that she was noted for her charms in her youth. The hand of Time however has seared her face and left many wrinkles as evidence of the years she has passed through. Being to an extent deprived of her hearing it was with difficulty that one in the party who spoke Hawaiian could make himself understood. She was willing to talk and she was able but she must be allowed to go on in her own way without being bored with questions.

Mr. Atkinson General Inspector of Census made several visits subsequently and investigated the case of the woman who is supposed to be anywhere from 120 to 124 years of age. He tells his story in his own inimitable way.

Among the census returns received in my office were many which gave ages of natives varying from 100 to 110 or so. These cases I had investigated by the district superintendents but when I came across an old lady in Honolulu who claimed to be 124 years of age I thought it was time to make investigations on my own account.

To carry out this investigation I asked Prof. Alexander and Miss Nakuma to accompany me. Prof. Alexander has a wide world reputation as an historian of the Islands as a man of exact thought and of the highest culture. Miss Nakuma is an Hawaiian lady of high cultivation both in English and her own language and has also a very thorough knowledge of the history of the country. For myself my training as a newspaper editor has made me only too well fitted to do a long period of work as Inspector General. Schools have forced me to value evidence and weigh it carefully.

I gave the above statement because I wish to indicate to you that I have not to bear the stamp of exaggeration. The case being a peculiar one and likely to be doubted.

On our first visit we found the old lady sitting up on the floor. She was attended by two women one of whom was the wife of a grandson. She was very deaf and though not blind could not see very clearly though when I put on her hand for a moment and placed it in her pocket. This was at the close of the interview but I mention it here to show what the old lady's faculties were.

Prof. Alexander after some preliminary remarks in reference to the subject, suggested a number of questions which I were put by Mrs. Nakuma. I had some feeling that she would not be able to answer them but she did so with a surprising fluency and with a clearness of mind that I was not prepared to expect. She was a native of the Islands and had lived there all her life. She was born in the year 1781 and had lived through the reigns of all the Hawaiian monarchs. She was a member of the first generation of the Hawaiian people who were converted to Christianity by the missionaries.

At that time she was a young girl and her ideas coming more quickly than she continued talking told us that she remembered Keoua being killed at Lawaia. This occurred in 1791. The story is described in Alexander's History of the Hawaiian People on page 13, which says:

Toward the end of the year 1791 Keoua of Kamehameha's chief counselors Kamanawa and Keaweheulu were sent on an embassy to Keoua at Kahuku in Kau. Keoua's chief warrior urged him to put them to death which he indignantly refused to do.

By smooth speeches and fair promises they persuaded him to go to Kawaihae and have an interview with Kamehameha in order to put an end to the war which had lasted nine years. Accordingly he set out with his own double canoe accompanied by Keaweheulu in another canoe and followed by friends and retainers in other canoes.

As they approached the landing at Kawaihae Keaumoku surrounded Keoua's canoe with a number of armed men. As Kamehameha relates: "Seeing Kamehameha on the beach Keoua called out to him 'Here I am,' to which he replied 'Rise up and come here that we may know each other'."

As Keoua was in the act of leaping ashore Keaumoku killed him with a spear. All the men in Keoua's canoe and in the canoes of his immediate company were slaughtered but one. But when the second division approached Kamehameha gave orders to stop the massacre. The bodies of the slain were then laid upon the altar of Peukohola as an offering to the blood thirsty gods of Kukalimoku. That of Keoua had been previously baked in an oven at the foot of the hill as a last indignity. This treacherous murder made Kamehameha master of the whole island of Hawaii and was the first step toward the consolidation of the group under one Government. But, as Fornander says: "We may admire the edifice whose foundation he (Kamehameha) laid but we must note that one of its corner stones is laid in blood."

"Finally she volunteered the information that she remembered the digging of the well in Kau and that she was a child at the time similar to a child running about the house a child of between 6 and 7. This event occurred in 1781 and is described in Fornander's History.

This would make her 122 years old according to exact calculation but it is quite permissible to allow her a couple of years more as she claims.

"I followed up another method of investigation and inquired how many children she had tracing their descendants. This I was enabled to do to the fifth generation. Allowing the ordinary 30 years for a generation four generations would give 120 years and we can easily allow four years for the fifth bringing out her age at what she claims by an entirely different method of investigation. We were therefore satisfied that the old lady had spoken the truth.

What a curious link with the past she is. She must have been a little toddling child when Capt. Cook came to the Islands. She has seen the monarchy of Hawaii consolidated and she has seen its fall. She remains today a monument of the past but one which must soon glide away and pass to the great unknown.

We certify that the above statement is correct.

J. M. NAKUMA
W. D. ALEXANDER

Mrs. Nakuma at Mr. Atkinson's request visited the old lady on several occasions and has elicited the following facts:

THE HISTORY OF KEPOOLELE APAU

She was born in Keahialaka in Puna Hawaii and was about 6 years old when Kamehameha made the attempt to sink a well at Kalae in Kau. Kepoolele's first name was called after a chief Kaiaakanihiki (tribe) of Hawaii who was Kamehameha's mother. This Kaiaakanihiki was accused of having caused the death of some high chiefs by sorcery and punishment was made to the King. His head cut off as a dangerous sorcerer after hence the name Kepoolele (discovered head).

Her second name of Apau is which she has been known longest was given in honor of the chief of Kilauea who defied the King when it was generally prophesied that Kilauea would be swallowed bodily by Pele for some time. Apau means an old tree. She was a woman grown in the time she received the name.

Her father's name was Kapa afterward Pele. Kapa was called after a fisherman of Puna in the time and thus the name to commemorate the visit of the King. Her mother's name was Kanealoha. They were fishermen.

During childhood she lived mostly in Puna with occasional visits to Hilo and more rarely to Kau. She distinctly remembers seeing Kamehameha during the attempt to sink the well at Kalae. Also remembered Keoua's last visit to Puna to raise recruits to go to war with Kamehameha just before he was induced to go meet the latter at Kawaihae where he was treacherously slain. A path and offered by Keoua to the beach of the Hilo side of the bay. He in fact of Keoua's visit was face on with the latter and was killed by her father and brother.

She has lived in Honolulu since the time she was brought to her by the missionaries. She has seen the reigns of all the Hawaiian monarchs and has lived through the reigns of all the Hawaiian monarchs. She has seen the reigns of all the Hawaiian monarchs and has lived through the reigns of all the Hawaiian monarchs.

usual places of resort being useless for this purpose.

Apau was a full grown woman when Kapiolani and Nahe went from Kona to Kau to cut sandalwood. Nahe remained in Kau with the workmen but Kapiolani extended her trip to Hilo by way of Puna where she saw and took a liking to the subject of this sketch and made an alkane of her (a friend with privileges of an own sister a sort of second self) and according to the custom of those days took her back with her on her return to Kona. Apau did not see Puna again for many years.

Kamike the daughter in law of Apau tells of the family tradition of Apau's great beauty as a young woman and up to the time she was disfigured by being poisoned. Her personal beauty was such that Kapiolani ordered her hair cut and combed to fall evenly over her face to her nose (a sort of ancient forerunner to the modern bangs) and she was required by her august friend and mistress to always dress her hair in that style that is falling like a veil before and half way down her face.

"The cautious chiefs having fears as to the firmness and stability of her lord's recent conversion to Christianity and prudently thought no doubt that the constant familiar presence of unusual beauty was rather distracting and tended to weaken the good and virtuous resolutions of a chief heretofore accustomed to have a wish gratified as soon as expressed.

Apau was converted to Christianity with Kapiolani and both were taught letters along with the whole household. They were first taught from a book (English) book and afterwards from a native one. She has been a constant reader of the Bible until about two years ago when her sight failed and when in the mood can expect almost whole chapters of the Bible.

Kapiolani would not permit her protegee to have a husband for many years but after repeated entreaties by a member of her own household added to those of Apau herself she consented.

Just before the marriage was to take place Kiwika who was a cook in the family of the missionary who was Kapiolani's religious teacher told his master he had obtained favors proper for a husband from Apau and she ought to become his wife as he loved her.

The master pleaded Kiwika's case with Kapiolani and Nahe and although Apau strenuously denied the act of favors given or received from Kiwika she was obliged to let very religious and perhaps over zealous lady marry Kiwika.

She had to give up her married life but always reserved the fact of having a wife with her as a thing to be proud of and to be remembered by her children.

Three children were the fruit of her marriage. The first a girl Mui lived to womanhood and died about 10 years ago. Soon after the birth of the girl she had a chance to visit her parents at Puna and went there. She did not return to her husband who had obtained a divorce from her.

After their divorce they became quite friendly. He sent her a present of some raw fish which she claims was poisoned for as soon as she ate of it her lips and nose began to itch and then swelled.

In a little while the swelling extended all over her face and head and was only relieved when running sores formed. She was sick a very long time. She finally came to Hilo for medical treatment. Her husband was living there and the missionaries got after them both and induced them to consent to live together again.

They were reunited by Mr. Cook and the child now living Kilauea was the fruit of that union. Apau was by this time somewhat infirm. The husband was a very old man and while the father and the wife were both old the child was born.

After the child's birth the husband and wife lived together until the husband died. Apau then lived alone until she died.

Constitution Adopted - Stirring Speeches Made by Ardent Annexationists

Honolulu has seen larger and more exciting annexation meetings than that held Friday evening in the Drill Shed but at none of the meetings held in past years has there been a more healthy business-like political determination displayed. When Chairman Hartwell called the meeting to order there were fully 500 people in the hall a large proportion of whom were members of the original Annexation Club and also a good number who had come to add their names to the list in order that they might join in the good work.

The business of the meeting ran long smoothly. Ample time was given for discussion and the general unanimity of opinion demonstrated that the majority of those present were not inclined to split hairs on small points. The speech-making which interspersed the business deliberations was sharp, short and to the point and the enthusiasm reached its highest pitch when P. C. Jones declared for annexation contract labor or no contract labor.

In opening the meeting Mr. Hartwell said:

Gentlemen of the Annexation Club and its Friends

At a meeting of the Annexation Club last Friday evening a wish was expressed that the Club should be so organized that its membership should be open to friends of annexation generally without regard to any particular political or party bias, to enable all who believe in that object to associate together to accomplish that purpose. That wish found expression in a motion to the effect that a special committee should be appointed to draft a constitution to incorporate that idea and to propose that draft at a meeting which that committee was authorized to call. This meeting is called pursuant to that motion and the report of that committee is now in order.

The report and the constitution were as follows:

To the Presiding Officer of the Annexation Club

The committee appointed to draft a constitution and by laws of the Club and submit the same at a meeting of the Club to be called by the committee now report that they have prepared and herewith submit a draft of the constitution embodying all the essentials of by laws which seem to the committee to be requisite to accomplish the single purpose of the Club which is contemplated by its proposed constitution.

It is then putting a more political point of view in an attempt to show that not only the big but the small regions should not be neglected.

It is bad enough to let a hatch go to have to patronize the trancas without having to endure services interrupted by a din of clattered bells. It is an insult to the community to have such a scene be enacted and the people should be saved any extraordinary demonstration calling attention to these petty sins. No thanks.

People at Settlement Will Have Music Box.

The response to the appeal for subscriptions for a Christmas present to be sent to the leper settlement has been most cordial. A good starter has been made and the whole fund ought to be fully completed early next week. Wall, Nichols Company state that a Regina music box with over two dozen selections can be obtained for $125. Certainly this a very small sum for Honolulu to give towards making life brighter for the people at the settlement. One of the reasons why more money has not been subscribed is because the amount required is so small that the Man About Town thinks his dollar or two will not be needed.

Let every person remember that it is his or her dollar that counts. Send in subscriptions immediately and don't be afraid if the sum you are able to give is a small one. Every little helps, and the more numerous the contributors the merrier the Christmas

A. L. Morris Comes Up For Trial.

Deputy Inspector-General McStocker on the Stand—Story of Cracker Boxes.

The case of A. L. Morris for importing opium into the country came up in the police court Saturday morning, and at noon was adjourned until Monday morning. Attorney General Smith and Marshal Brown appeared for the prosecution and Messrs. Thurston, Stanley and Davis for the defense.

Deputy Inspector-General of Customs McStocker was the first witness called in the case.

Mr. McStocker—Am acquainted with Mr. Morris. Has sworn to entries of the Washington Feed Company himself. Have come in contact, but not as an agent of the Washington Feed Company. Came to me after finding of opium and said: "This is rough, finding opium in our goods; I don't know how it came there." Instructed the Port Surveyor to go carefully through all goods of the Mount Lebanon, and especially through those of the feed company. This was on account of information received that the Washington Feed Company—

Here Mr. Thurston objected, and the objection was sustained.

McStocker, continuing—Manifest called for 174 cases. Mr. Lowden entered 184 or 10 more than the manifest called for.

Cross Examined—Have been causing examination of goods of Washington Feed Company for a long time past. Ever since its organization. Instructions have been to examine their goods more thoroughly. Examination was a little better this time. Goods imported by feed company have been mostly crackers. Have had my attention directed on Morris for about a year past.

Re-Direct—Morris showed me certain detailed invoices. Mr. Thurston came down about this time and said the Washington Feed Company was ready to assist the Custom House in terroring out the guilty parties.

Cross Examined This last statement calls for 135 cases, and these figures have been changed from 143, so as to make a difference of 8 cases in the total. That, of course, is merely a theory on my part. Do not know what is meant by quarter, half and whole cases.

In response to a question from the Attorney General Mr. McStocker answered that 184 was the number of cases marked on the bill of lading and that 174 was the number on the other bill of lading in the hands of the steamship company.

Port Surveyor Statemeyer testified to the orders given the inspectors and guards to make a complete search of the goods of the Washington Feed Company; to the cases, in which opium was found, and the peculiar appearance of the same.

MAY MEAN WAR SWEEP BY STORM!

United States May Take a Hand East Maui Treated to Gale of Unusual Proportions.

THOUGH OFFICIALS DENY IT FRESHETS IN MANY CULCHES

President Orders Massing of the Navy.

Will be Put on War Footing—Weyler Getting Rather Too Official.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 13.—Spain's attitude of unfriendliness toward the people and Government of the United States, which it is feared may result in trouble between the two countries, was the leading topic of discussion at today's meeting of the Cabinet. After adjournment each Cabinet member was asked for the latest development in the situation, but refused to discuss it, and declined to affirm or deny any reports as to the danger of a quarrel between Spain and the United States.

An official who claims to speak for the President and Secretary Olney, ventured the opinion that the policy of the administration toward Spain and Cuba will not be changed in the slightest degree, unless there are new developments in the Cuban situation or some hostile action committed by Spain which would require prompt action by this Government. In other words, the administration will continue to maintain a policy of strict neutrality.

The administration is hopeful that Spain's unfriendliness to the United States will not become more marked than at present, but it is not too sanguine of escaping an open quarrel. In the meantime the work of putting the Navy on a war footing continues, and in the ordnance and engineer departments of the Army there is also marked activity. The greatest fleet of war ships assembled since the new Navy was constructed is about to rendezvous in New York Harbor, and work upon all the vessels now at the various navy yards and in course of construction has been ordered to be pushed. Naval preparations are not to be in any way relaxed until the administration is satisfied that the Navy has reached its full fighting strength.

There has been no purpose on the part of the Secretary to present to the country a big fleet in New York waters during the closing months of his administration simply as an example of the Navy's growth in the past years, but the activity that has been going on in all directions is the result of direct orders by the President, given early in the autumn, that the country must be prepared on the seas as it was in January last when Great Britain and the United States were at odds over the Venezuelan boundary question.

LEE TALKS OF CUBAN WAR.

Consul-General Admits That a Conflict With Spain is Possible.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 14.—Gen. Fitzhugh Lee, Consul General of the United States to Cuba, returned here this afternoon from Virginia, where he has been visiting his family. No time has yet been fixed for his return to Havana, but it is understood that he has been asked to remain here probably a couple of weeks longer, in order to hold himself in readiness to confer with the President and Secretary of State over the Cuban question.

Gen. Lee talked tonight of the Spanish-Cuban situation, and while not denying the possibility of war with Spain, expressed the opinion that the reports that a rupture was imminent and that consequent preparations for trouble were being made by both countries might be greatly exaggerated.

He said he had no knowledge of immediate danger of hostility, though, of course, there was great feeling among some Spaniards against this country, as they thought that without filibustering aid and comfort from here the rebellion might easily be suppressed. He had no information as to whether the Spanish were prepared or preparing for war.

Y. M. C. A. MEETING.

Two Resolutions of Importance and Other Items of Interest.

At the regular monthly meeting of the Y. M. C. A. last night there were some 20 members present. Vice President Wichman took the chair in the absence of A. B. Wood, who was ill.

In regard to the gymnasium, a resolution was offered to be adopted later and to be made a part of the by-laws to this effect: That the present special committee of the gymnasium be authorized to employ a physical examiner, and that all the members of the gymnasium be required to present certificates of health annually, the expense of this to be stood by the Y. M. C. A.

The 11 applicants for membership were received as associate members. The Entertainment and Reception Committee was authorized to proceed with the regular annual entertainment for New Year's Day for members of the association and their friends. The association will provide some kind of entertainment for the prisoners at the Oahu Jail, to take place on Christmas or the week following.

The following resolution was adopted: "Resolved, That it is the sense of the Y. M. C. A. that its Temperance Committee organize or procure the organization of a law and order league to assist in the enforcement of wholesome laws which are now violated with impunity."

MAUI, Dec. 5.—The greatest storm in several years swept over East Maui last night and continues today. The wind blew a heavy gale from the north and brought with it rain that measured more than six inches in localities.

Trees were blown down, a freshet occurred in the Wailuku River, the ever-dry gulches between Lahaina and Maalaea were running with water, and the fine brig Lurline was driven onto the reef.

Between 10 and 11 o'clock last night the gale caused the Lurline to break her mooring chain. In swinging around she dragged her anchor and went on the beach just above the old Spreckels landing toward Wailuku. Though the tide was full, and there was quite a sea on, it was the strong wind that forced the brig to part her chain.

The damage up to the present moment is slight. She has lost her shoe (keel), but is not leaking. The steamer Likie pulled her off.

Monday, November 30th, the brig Lurline, Brown master, arrived in Kahului, 23 days from San Francisco. She brought a full cargo of general merchandise for H. C. Co., and had a deck-load of hay. Her passengers were Miss Mossman, a bookkeeper for the Kahului store; a second engineer for Spreckelsville, and a Mr. Randolph, a former employee of H. C. Co.'s plantation.

The Lurline had been loaded with ballast, had cleared the Custom House and was to have sailed today. Wednesday evening, the 2d, Ung Mung and Chang Kai, two Chinese residents of Paia, indulged in a quarrel, during which the latter cut his countryman's cheekbone with a small knife. Early Thursday morning, just as a policeman was about to serve a warrant on Chang Kai for assault he observed a Portuguese woman running in great terror from her cook house. Upon being stopped she pointed to the kitchen and exclaimed: "Pilikia no! make no!" Then it was that the officer discovered the lifeless body of Chang Kai suspended by a small rope from a cross-beam of the shanty. Friday the Coroner's jury brought in a verdict of suicide.

The Lahaina term of court opened Wednesday, with Circuit Judge Kalua on the bench and Deputy Attorney General E. P. Dole as prosecuting officer for the Government.

Some of the prominent people in attendance were Attorneys Robertson, Enoch Johnson, Kepokai, John Richardson, S. F. Chillingworth, George Hons, Sheriffs L. A. Andrews and L. M. Baldwin, Deputy Sheriffs W. H. King, W. G. Scott and W. J. Sheldon and Interpreters J. C. Long (Hawaiian) and A. E. Tavares (Portuguese). Five or six cases were weeded out of a calendar of about 50. The principal case so far brought before the Hawaiian jury was that of Neau—a native woman—charged with practicing medicine without a license. The defendant is a well known Wailuku kahuna. The case is not finished.

There was but one case, that of W. C. Crook, brought before the Maui Tax Appeal Board (Messrs. Kalua, Copp and Hoffman), and that was decided by a compromise.

Maui Deputy Sheriffs are sporting quite "spicy" uniforms.

The Makawao awa license sold for $250 to Kahakauilua, and it is reported that Young Hee bought the Wailuku license for $300.

With Hana and Lahaina the Maui telephone system will consist of about 200 instruments. The line between Lahaina and Makawao has been working finely. It was broken by last night's storm.

The weather: Frequent and heavy rains during the week.

DAMAGES FOR JAMESON'S RAID.

Claim to Be Made Directly to Great Britain.

LONDON, Nov. 14.—The correspondent of the Daily Telegraph at Pretoria says: President Kruger has informed me that the Executive Council has not yet decided upon the amount of the Jameson raid indemnity, but that it will be a reasonable sum, and the demand will be presented direct to the English Government, which, he added, deals with the Chartered South Africa Company. There was no intention, he said, to trouble about alterations in existing conventions. He desired to settle a disagreeable matter in the friendliest spirit.

It is reported that the Illinois Central Railroad has decided to allow its employees to buy the stock of that road at par, and pay for it on monthly installments of $5. Interest at 4 per cent, is allowed on partial payments. A number of the employees are availing themselves of the privilege of becoming stockholders.

Four Police Officers Have an Experience in Puna Valley.

Capt. John Fernandez, Lieut. Kekai and two policemen had quite an outing among the long grass and slippery stones of Puna Valley yesterday morning while wending their way toward a certain Chinese dwelling house suspected of harboring a large number of gamblers.

In order to keep the matter as secret as possible the officers took a long way about and went up by way of Tantalus.

Going down the side they came upon the dwelling and found some 20 Chinese inside engaged in playing fan tan and other games known to the Chinese gambling fraternity. The officers made a rush and so did the Chinamen, with the result that about one-half of the latter escaped. Of the 10 who were corralled, two or three showed fight, but were quickly subdued.

Although wet and hungry the officers returned triumphant with the 10 Chinamen who were all released later on bail.

There are few gourmets in Honolulu who do not know our Maltess Cross Hams. They are cured expressly for us and are infinitely better than any other ham on the market for boiling or roasting. This brand of ham is from selected stock and is in the pickle a uniform number of hours. They cost a trifle more than ordinary hams, but they are fifty per cent better in quality.

If you want to roast one of these hams here's a good recipe: Put it in cold water and let it soak overnight, then pour off the water, wipe the ham dry and put it into the kettle again, cover with fresh water and boil for three hours. Then take it out, scrape the rind when cool, put it into another kettle and pour four pints of cider over it and then enough water to cover. Put in a bay leaf, cloves, allspice and cinnamon, and allow it to boil slowly for two hours more, never letting the water boil over. Then take it out, wipe it thoroughly and dust it with powdered sugar and cloves, sticking whole spices here and there in the fat. Put into the oven and bake for an hour and a half. The Maltess Cross Hams are the only ones suitable for cooking in this way and we are the exclusive dealers in them.

HONOR KATE FIELD

Efforts of San Francisco
Literary Women.

Memorial Exercises Finally Held
After Much Wrangling

SAN FRANCISCO, CAL., Nov. 7.

Ever since word reached this city of the death of talented Kate Field in Honolulu, earnest but spasmodic efforts have been made to do honor to her memory and bring her remains back to this country for burial. The suggestion that a fund be raised for that purpose was taken up by a morning paper, a proceeding which was immediately objected to by the executors of Miss Field's estate.

With this and a desire on the part of the ladies of the Pacific Coast Women's Press Association to co-operate in anything that honored their co-worker they for a time acquiesced in the original proposition and appointed a committee composed of Miss Ina D. Coolbrith, Mrs. Col. Dickinson of Alameda and Mrs. Ada Van Pelt to attend to all the details. The last named was by mutual consent made a committee of one to confer with Mrs. Henry E. Highton who was active in the matter and seemed to be in possession of inside information.

Without reporting back Mrs. Van Pelt proceeded with Mrs. Highton to make arrangements for the reception of the remains which were announced to be due on the last Australian steamer for memorial services at Trinity Church, for an elaborate decoration of the church and extra music. When word reached the other members of the committee they would not indorse what Mrs. Van Pelt had done and brought the matter before the meeting of the association. It was then decided that the society should have no more affiliation with anybody in the matter, and would hold the memorial exercises as first proposed whether or no the remains ever reached here.

Accordingly, they set Monday, November 23d, as the time, and Shasta Hall, in Native Sons' building, as the place. A handsome souvenir program upon which will appear Kate Field's picture, is in course of preparation. The president, Mrs. Dickinson, will make the opening address, and others participating will be Rev. George Edward Walk, Miss Ina D. Coolbrith, Joaquin Miller, Miss Frances Fuller Victor, Mrs. Frances Edgerton Cassius M. Coe, Mrs. Sarah B. Cooper, and Mrs. Nellie Blessing Eyster. There will be music by the Press Club Quartet.

ESCAPED FROM CHILI.

The Dangerous Adventure of Detective W. M. Lugg.

Four years ago, at the time of the trouble between the United States and Chili, as a result of the killing of sailors of the U. S. S. Baltimore, in the streets of a Chilean city, many Americans were obliged to leave the country for safety. Among them was W. M. Lugg, the private detective, whose office is in the Crocker Building, San Francisco, Cal.

When Mr. Lugg left Chili he went across the mountains into Argentine, traveling on muleback. He says that the trip is a delightful one in point of beautiful scenery and perfect weather but many people disliked to undertake it on account of unhealthy stagnant water which they are compelled to drink along the way.

"I fell a victim to the injurious qualities of the water," said Mr. Lugg. It affected my kidneys to an alarming degree. When I got over in Argentine I thought the trouble would gradually leave me, but instead of that it grew more aggravated and I suffered terribly from pains in the region of my kidneys. I was en route to Chicago, and I determined to reach my destination before the complaint should grow so serious as to confine me to my bed. Upon reaching Chicago I at once consulted a physician, who told me my kidneys had been affected by drinking polluted water. He treated me for some time for that complaint, but I grew steadily worse, and new ailments were added to my already serious condition. I began to have neuralgic pains in my head, my spine was affected with shooting pains, and I had no control over the urinary organs. It was next to impossible for me to get any sleep. I lay awake many a night suffering the most intense pains, and the physician unable to relieve them.

But relief came at last. One day one of my friends came to my room and handed me a vial of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Of course I laughed at him for daring to think that any patent medicine could aid me when my physician had failed. I took the pills, however, to oblige my friend more than for any faith I had in them, and I was treated to the most joyful surprise of my life when I realized that I was being relieved of my pains. First, the peculiar pains along my spine ceased, and then my neuralgic trouble began to grow less and finally left me entirely. It took a good while to improve the condition of my kidneys, but after I had taken a number of boxes of the pills I knew that they had done their work successfully. For then I had regained control of the urinary organs and the action of my kidneys was strong and steady. I have recommended them to a number of my friends who were suffering from kidney complaints, and they have all been benefited by their use.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills contain all the elements necessary to give new life and richness to the blood and restore shattered nerves. They are for sale by Hollister Drug Co., Hoboken, N. J., wholesale agents for the Hawaiian Islands, and all dealers in medicine. S. F. Examiner.

BRIG GOES ASHORE

Lurline Cast High and Dry on the Reef

Captain Andrews of the Likelike and Brown Come to a $5000 Agreement

The steamer Likelike came into port early yesterday morning with the American brigantine Lurline in tow. It was learned that this vessel went ashore at Kahului early Saturday morning, and had it not been for the Likelike she would probably be high and dry still. The following story of the incident is told by Capt. Andrews who was in command of the Likelike.

On Saturday morning at about 2 o'clock a heavy gale struck Kahului where the brig Lurline lay at anchor. It was not long before the fury of the storm caused the vessel to carry away her moorings and placed her high and dry on the reef.

Bob English the pilot went aboard and rendered all the assistance he could but nothing could be done to rescue her from her position on the reef.

The Likelike arrived in Kahului at 9 30 a m on Saturday and I came to an agreement with Capt. Brown to get her off and tow her into the harbor of Honolulu for the sum of $5000. If I succeeded in doing nothing it was agreed that I would get nothing.

We hooked on at 10 15 a m and started to pull. Well, we didn't make the least bit of an impression and parted all the lines we had.

It was evident nothing could be done until she was lightened so on Saturday evening the crew of the Lurline started to discharge ballast.

At 10 o'clock the work was finished and at 12 45 a m we hooked on again with 4 6 and 8-inch lines.

At 1 30 o'clock in the morning we gave the first jerk and got the vessel off 40 feet. She rolled over on her beam's end and at the second pull she came off the reef much to my relief.

At 7 a m 50 tons of ballast were put aboard and at 12 noon all the work was finished. Directly after this we proceeded on our way to Honolulu with the brig in tow.

Had fine weather all the way down and arrived off Diamond Head at 3 a m.

The brig Lurline is now lying in the stream awaiting orders from the underwriters as to how to proceed.

BLUEJACKET ESCAPES.

Frank Edwards Swims Ashore After Being Courtmartialed.

Frank Edwards a blue jacket aboard the U S S Adams deserted during the last week and was caught in Kalihi a day or so later.

He was taken aboard ship and courtmartialed on Friday for desertion. Evidently the appearance of the trial did not seem to be in his favor so he made his escape from the Adams and swam ashore some time during Sunday night.

On Monday morning Capt. Watson reported the matter at police headquarters and Capt. Renken of the Mounted Patrol together with Harry Evans went to Kalihi, the place where Edwards was found after his desertion and on out to Moanalua. Nothing had been seen or heard of him at these places.

It was learned later that he was stored away at a certain place in town but the officers are making sure of their ground before they make their raid.

Lost Overboard.

The German bark Ardgowan H. Breu master arrived in port late Saturday afternoon 72 days from Newcastle N S W with 1914 tons of coal consigned to order. The Ardgowan is flying her flag at half mast on account of the death of the first officer who was lost overboard during the first day out when the weather was very rough. He was swept from the deck and although attempts were made to save him the heavy sea made all efforts futile. Strange to say that after the first day when the weather was so rough there succeeded the very first calm of weather which lasted up to the time of the arrival of the vessel in port. The Ardgowan is in the stream.
